DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE

(Ex Army Med. Staff) IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY

GENUINE CAUTION .- Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the Inventor of Chlorodyne, that the story of the Defendant, Freeman, being the Inventor was deliberately untrue; which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent Rospital Physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's. See Times, July 12, 1864. The public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than PATRACTS FROM MEDICAL OPINIONS. The Right Hon. Larl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne,-See Lancet, Dec. 31, 1864.

From A. Montgomery, Esq., late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay:-"Chlorodyne in the world. is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia. Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed."

THE CHINA REVIEW.

THE widely-expressed regret at the discontinuance of Notes & Queries on China and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

THE CHINA REVIEW, or Notes and Queries on the Far East, is issued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octavo pages, occasionally illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter.

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance.

The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History-Literature, Mythology, Manners and Cus, toms, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipolego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number, Original contributions in Chinese, Latina French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavour. are made to present a resume in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department. Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which, though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in hand. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August. 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two essays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is alone worth the price of the Kevisio. Address China Review, Hongkong. -- Northern

Christian Advocate (U.S.)

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review !- "This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached up from Hongs kong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. Thepresent publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to. occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable : and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated. and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In a paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its predecessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insure its centinuance. The publication is intended to appear every two months, and will

Mr Bain holds that the Postmaster-General was misled by the Directors of the P. & O. Company, and his own staff, and that had all the papers been before the House when it was asked to approve the contract, certain important modifications would undoubtedly have been made at the last moment. It seems quite clear that the greatest possible acceleration has not been made, and this is to be deplored, the more so that what has now been effected binds our hands for so long a period as eight years. For £370,000 a year, the public has a right to the best service that can be organised and maintained, and that, there is every reason to believe, we have not got. Whether the failure has arisen from the grave intentional non-action of certain officials, as alleged by Captain Bain, or simply from that ruinous red-tapeism which seems inseparable from most Governmental matters we are not prepared to decisively of it agrees precisely with our idea of a 3 p.m.—Confirmatory Meeting of Hong- say; but we incline to think the oppor- Chinese . But there is one point incidentally mentioned to which attention should be drawn. An argument apparently of much weight has the effect that the services of the P. & O. fleet in transport are matters of history, and that it is the duty of the State not only to bear that in mind in a fleet is maintained capable of readering | pr carry a second-class ninth rank, similar services in the future. CHINESE NOTES.

In his interesting work upon Russia Mr Hepworth Dixon mentions that Peter the Great put into the places of the princes and boyars forming the ancient ruling caste, the Tartar chins. We are inclined be of opinion that the Russian. Turkish, Mongol and Manchu official systems will be found to have had one and the same origin. The subject has already been touched upon more than once in these Notes. The "buttons" now worn by Chinese officials, like the "pigtail" or queue were introduced by the present Manchu-Tartar Dynasty. The present nine ranks of Chinese officialdom were however in vogue during the Ming régime.

After discussing the various suggestions which have been made as to the origin of the Artel or Russian Trade Society, Mr. Dixon says: "The safer view appears to be that Artel came from Asia." His description vation for the word Artel it must be remembered that the final l is soft, and that the accent is on the last syllable. The mindassociations which Mr Dixon calls Teek are written in Russian tsech, the final x or ch having a strong guttural sound. Perhaps a Persian or Tartar word may be found to solve the mystery of Artél and Tsech. Mr Dixon also mentions that the Russian keeps his purse and papers in his boot. This is an invariable custom with those Chinese who were boots. In fact, one name for a purse or pocket-book in Pekingese is 事 "boot portfolio."

If a Turk's wife die, he says "I can go another." Thus writes Mr. Lewis Farley in Directors and their friends who have his book upon Modern Turkey. 女人好 也可以再置"If my wife dies can get another" is what the Manchu-Chinese say under the same circumstances. By this arrangement the Magistrate secured 1500 cash wherewith to furnish each pecul of rice to the soldiers. The thing came to be looked upon as a regular corvée [差], and this it remains to the present day. Each registered tax payer has nominally to sell so many peculs of rice for each acre of land on which he pays taxes, -in other words to pay 1000 cash more taxation for each acre, or two acres, as the case may be. The registered land-owners are those who pay land-tax. It has already been explained elsewhere how the land-tax is shifted from one registered owner to the other accordingly as transfers of land are made.

WE are informed that there is no truth in the statement published in this morning's paper, to the effect that His Excellency the Governor has issued an order that no more summonses are to be taken out for the present by the Inspector of Nuisances.

An inquest was held this afternoon on the todies of two infant children (twine) at Wellington Barracks, before the Coroner (C. V. Creagh, Esq.) and Messes F. A. Czorio. A. I. G. Pereira, and E. Pereira, as a Jury. The proceedings were conducted with closed doors.

In our sixth page to-day we give the sketch of the career of General Grant to which we referred yesterday, and a sketch of the eccentric and loveable Professor Blackie of Edinburgh, from the World's "Celebrities at Home." As General Grant will be amongst ns next week, we believe the ably-written sketch we make room for to-day will be of interest.

Approposed the paragraph which we gave a fow days ago as to the open source of poison to our little ones lying in the fact that the much as they wanted, and all but the third, amahs will allow them to partake of impure water, a medical friend draws our attention to the Medical Gazette of the 8th November isst, where (p. 518) we find another source of danger which ought to be mentioned over and over again to the Hongkong public. In 1877 a local physician had a very interesting case of lead-poisoning, and looking over the literature relating to such cases, found American leather-cloth mentioned as a fruitful source of that disease. Some years age in Berlin and other parts of Germany many healthy persons suffered from lead-poisoning, and parents and medical men were puzzled as to the source of the poison. Dear little grave, I strew Fresh autumn flowers and garden blooms on I strew upon you roses white and red;

I fling my heart upon you, narrow bed; Once, twelve months since, I launched my heart, a rose, Where, lit with laughter, Love's swift river

And lo! once more the year's swift pinions And now I cast it on the grave of love.

My love, myself, my child, Lie buried here, and I am free again. I would I were a slave, I loved my chain; I would that I might see your sweet eyes

They were your father's eyes, who loves not I blame him not, but do forgive for thee. It is not long I stay, my life, my dear, Not long until we are together here.

Last year—it seems an age ago— I had not seen him: then we went Together on our road; and so, By ways and converse innocent. We gained at last the sacred gate Of wedlook, and the hand of Fate Lifted the latch, and we passed in To the enchanted ground therein. And now the winds of autumn rave, And love lies dead within a grave.

Dear love, that liest there so still, I go now till to-morrow's sun; The autumn evening gathers chill, The day is well-nigh done. Bleep, dear, through all thy long untroubled

Sleep calmly till the light. -From "Gwen, a drama."

THE DOVES.

Pretty doves, so blithely ranging Up and down the street; Glossy throats all bright bues changing, Little scarlet feet.

Pretty doves! among the daisies They should coo and flit! All these toilsome, noisy places Seem for them unfit.

Yet amidst our human plodding They must love to be, With their little heads a-nodding, Busier than we.

Close to hoof and wheel they hover. Glancing right and left, Sure some treasure to discover; Rapid, shy, and deft.

Friendliest of feathered creatures, In their timid guise; Wisdom's little, silent teachers, Praying us be wise.

Fluttering at footsteps careless, Danger awift to flee. Lowly, trusting, faithful, fearless; Oh, that such were we.

In the world and yet not of it. Ready to take wing-By this lesson could we profit It were everything -Harriel McEwen Kimball.

The Post Office reserves the right of selecting the opportunity for transmission, and of delaying delivery in case the number of parcels is such as to retard other correspondence. No responsibility is accepted with regard to any parcel, but the sys.em of Registration will secure the senders against any but a very remote probability of loss.

The I hilippine Islands being now admitted into the General Postal Union, it fold lows that all paid correspondence received from Manila in the mails will be delivered free by this office, and that all pa d correspondence sent to Manila in the mails should be delivered free there.

Article IX of the Postal Treaty of Berne provides that " Neither the senders nor the addressees of letters and other tostal packers shall be called upon to pay, either in the Country of Origin, or in that of Destination, any tax or duty other than the recognised rates levied (in the case of paid correspondenc) by the despatching Office. Mails for the United Kingdom, &c. by · French Packet.

Under instructions from the London Post office, the Mails for the United Kingdoni which have hitherto been to warded via Marseilles, will henceforth be forwarded via Nuples, as it is understood that a gain of tweive hours results from the adoption of this route.

As it would be extremely inconvenient to divide the mail, and no practical advantage would result from doing so, all correspondence intended for the United Kingdom by French Packet will be sent via Naples, even though marked via Marseilles.

An impression appears to prevail that correspondence for the Mediterranean stations, tribraltar, Malta, Cyprus, the Levant, Turkey, &c., can be forwarded only by british Facket. It can be forwarded also by French Packet, and if so forwarded generally arrives a week earlier than if it had been cetained for the British Mail.

The Post Office is not, by law, responsible for any loss or inconvenience which may arise from the non-delivery, mis-sendin, or mis-delivery of any letter, book, or other postal packet (even if the packet be registered) nor is the Post Office responsible for any injury which a packet may sustain during its transmission.

To guard against such injury all postat packets which are likely to suffer from stamping or from great pressure should be placed in strong covers; and even with this precaution no tragile article should be sent through the Post. It should be remembered that every packet has to be handled several times; that it is exposed to considerable pressure and friction in the mail bag; and that, whenever the bag has in the course of its transmission to be transferred by means of the railway apparatus, the risk of injury is much increased. No information can be given respecting letters which pass through a Fost Office except to the persons o whom they are addressed; and in no other way is official information of a private character allowed to be made public. A Postmaster may. however, give an address if he has no reason to believe that the person whose address it is would disapprove of his doing so.

Postmasters are not allowed to return any letter or other packet to the writer or sender. or to any one else, or to delay forwarding nor by the disho esty or negligence of any it to its destination according to the address. even though a request to such effect be written thereon.

1 ostmasters are not bound to give change, | damage to tragile articles such as portraits, nor are they author sed to demand change; watches, handsomely bound books, &c., and when money is paid at a Post Office, which reach then destination, although in | Bertie Biglow whether as ch. nge or otherwise, no question as to its right amount, goodness, or weight can be entertained after it has been removed from the counter.

Postmasters are not bound to weigh any letters for other packets for the public, but they may do so if their duty be not thereby impeded.

The practice of sealing letters passing to and from the East and West Indies, and other countries with hot climates, with wax | Stamps. (except such as is specially prepared), is attended with much inconvenience, and frequently with serious injury, not only to the letters so sealed but to the other letters in the mail, from the melting of the wax and adhesion of the letters to each other. The public are therefore recommended, in al such cases, to use either wafers or gum, and to advise their correspondents in the countries referred to, to do the same.

The registration of a packet makes its transmission much more secure, inasmuch as, under ordinary circumstances, a registered packet can be traced through its whole course; and thus the loss of a registered packet is a very rare occurrence. Nevertheless large sums of money or other articles of great value should not be sent through the post, even if the packet be registered; as the machinery of the Department is not arranged with a view to such transmission. By law, the Post Office is not responsible and paid at the rate of the day when the for the safe delivery of registered packets: though any officer who may neglect his duty on this point will be called to strict account. Sent in unregistered letters, valuable articles are exposed to risk, and offer a temptation which ought not to be created : and the Department cannot in any way indertake the safe conveyance of such packets All inland or colonial lettera. therefore, which contain coin, and inland letters which contain watches or jewellery, even though they be posted without registration, are treated as registered, and charged on delivery with a double registration fee of eightpence in addition to the ordinary postage; and any such letters which cannot be registered in time to be forwarded by the Mail for which they are posted are detained for the next despatch. Even if the letter do not contain any article | be given if the order be crossed (as obeques of intrinsic value, it should, if it be very important, be registered.

Most countries to which Hongkong forwards Correspondence having joined the General Postal Union or being probably arout to do so, it is necessary that the following rules be strictly observed.

1. No Letter or Packet, whether to be registered or unregistered, can be received for Postage if it contains gold or all vermoney, jewels, precious articles, or anything that, as a general rule, is liable to Customs

2. This Regulation prohibits the sending of Patterns of dutiable articles, unless the quantity sent he so small as to make the sample of no value. 8 The limits of weight allowed are as

Books and Papers to British Cffices, 5 lbs.: to the Continent, &c., 4 lbs. Patterns-to British Offices, 5 ths. if without intrinsic value; to the Continent, PARCELS.—The public is reminded that, there is no such thing as Parcel Post to Europe, &c. Much trouble and disappointment is caused by persistent attempts. to send small valuable trifles through the Fans, Curios, Articles of Dress Fancy Work, and similar presents are continually being refused, the senders having often spent more in Postage than would have paid the freight by a camer. No refund can be made on such parcels of the value of Stamps obliterated before the nature of the contents was discovered.

PATTERNS -Some difficulty is experienced in obtaining a general understanding of what is a lattern. It is a bond fide sample of goods which the sender has for sale, or of goods which he wishes to order. It is to consist of the smallest possible quantity compatible with showing what the goods are, and must have no intrinsic value.

To provide means of remitting small sums of money to or from this Colony and between the Lorts of China and Japan, the Postmasters and Agents of this Oflice will in future by allowed (but not required) to purchase Hongkong Postage Stamps from foreign residents.

The Postmaster issues the order, sends it on in the envelope, and returns the change, if any, by first opportunity, with a receipt for the letter, if it were to be registered, as it always should be.
